

The following questions were developed to assist a potential owner in identifying the breeder for them. They are to be used as a guide and to help you learn about the breeder. We recommend that you review the questions and then just have a conversation with the potential breeder, then complete the information and see if there are any things you missed and feel are important to you, call the breeder back.

Notes:

- Not all areas of the world have access to some medical tests. PennHip is available in some areas and OFA in others. A Breeder generally does not have both PennHip and OFA. Not all dogs need to have some tests done – smaller dogs often do not need the hip testing and only poodles would have the vonWillebrand's screening. You need to decide what tests are most important to you.

*These questions were developed by a group of dog owners and include questions that they wished they had asked before purchasing a dog. These questions have been reviewed by, several dog owners, breeders, trainers, educators and a veterinarian and were deemed to be a very helpful tool in locating a quality breeder.
